RAF Bomber Smashes Five Detroit Homes

15 Other Houses Damaged But No Civilians Killed

DETROIT (UPI) — A four-jet British Royal Air Force bomber, carrying six men and a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England, hurtled into a group of frame homes and exploded near the Detroit River Friday.

There was no report of survivors. Police and Coast Guardsmen recovered bits of what apparently was the body of one victim.

Three homes were leveled and two others gutted with only remnants of walls standing. At least 15 additional homes in a two-block area were damaged by fire and debris, but only one occupant of the buildings was injured.

"The pilot must have tried to ditch the plane in the river," homicide detective Paul Montgomery said. "He probably went down with the plane because we found parts of a body scattered as far as 500 feet from where it hit."

Distress Call Picked Up

"There's a big mess there and we can't be sure about other bodies," Montgomery said.

The Air National Guard reported it learned that military flight service of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, picked up a "may day" emergency distress call about the time the Delta-wing craft crashed (3:35 p.m., e.s.t.).

Officials in London said the plane left Waddington Air Base, Lincolnshire, England, Thursday carrying a goodwill message from the mayor of Lincoln, England, to the mayor of Lincoln, Neb. Selfridge AFB, Mount Clemens, Mich., said the plane left Goose Bay, Labrador, Friday en route to Lincoln AFB, Neb.

Parachute Found

A Detroit police boat fouled its propeller on a parachute, and a few moments later Coast Guardsmen began extensive dragging operations in the numerous canals and boat wells in the river area.

A spokesman at Selfridge said the plane carried six men when it took off from Labrador, and that it was its normal crew. He said it might have landed for refueling, but it was more likely to have been refueled in flight if at all. He said it apparently was a special flight under such conditions planes generally are refueled in flight when necessary.

The plane struck one house and exploded, spewing flames over other houses in a wide area. The home that was struck was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Kay, who were not at home.

The injured woman, Mrs. Ewald, lived next door. Her home also was totally destroyed.

Ike To Decide Space Issue, Quarles Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Quarles, acting secretary of defense, said Friday President Eisenhower will decide whether the new civilian space administration will take over key men and facilities from the Army.

Quarles said that the issue will be put before the President's Advisory Space Council at a meeting next Wednesday. The Defense Department and the Army will get opportunity to state their cases.

Quarles had been asked for comment on the proposal by Dr. Keith Glennan, aeronautics and space administrator, that the Army surrender 2,100 key scientists and engineers and major facilities of the Army's Ballistic Missile Command at Huntsville, Ala.

Commerce Secretary Steps Down

Ex-AEC Chairman To Take Over Post Early In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — A change of command at the Commerce Department was announced by the White House Friday.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks has resigned, and President Eisenhower has appointed Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, to succeed him.

Weeks, 65, was a Boston industrialist before entering the Cabinet at the beginning of the Eisenhower administration in 1953. Strauss, 62, used to be a Wall Street investment banker.

The Commerce Department was created in 1913 to foster and develop the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States, including its mining, manufacturing, shipping and fishing industries and its transportation facilities.

Shift Due Next Month

Weeks will leave his post not later than Nov. 10. In an Oct. 22 letter to Eisenhower, he said he was resigning reluctantly "and only because of pressing business, personal and family considerations, which seem to me to make it imperative that I return to Boston and my interests there."

"Please be sure, both during your remaining two years as President as well as thereafter, that if I can serve you in any way, you have only to call upon me," Weeks added.

The President expressed regret at Weeks' departure.

"Dear Sir," he wrote in an Oct. 23 letter made public by the White House. "I am indeed sorry that your departure... is now so imminent, but I appreciate that you have already put off this unhappy event for quite some time, much to my benefit and the administration's."

Recess Appointment

Eisenhower then called on Strauss to carry on the job. He gave Strauss a recess appointment which will enable him to take over as soon as Weeks leaves. When Congress convenes in January the Senate will be asked to confirm the appointment.

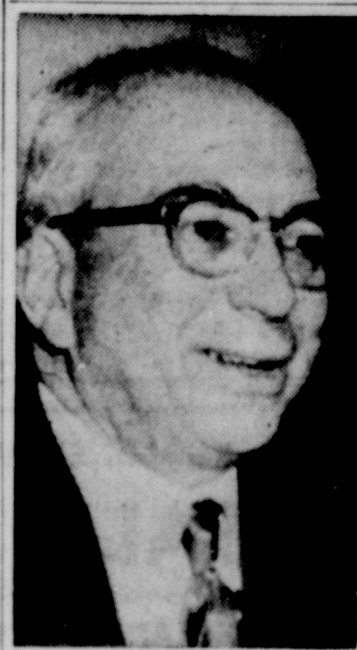

Strauss may run into some opposition there, although he probably will be confirmed. He was often a center of controversy as AEC chairman. He made many friends in Congress while heading the AEC but also some powerful enemies. For a time he feuded with Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), vice chairman of the Joint Committee of Atomic Energy, over the issue of clean vs. dirty bombs.

Pittsburgh, New York Trips Slated By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will fly to New York City Monday night after his 11-state television broadcast from Pittsburgh on behalf of Republican congressional candidates.

There will be some "political activities" in New York on Tuesday, press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters in announcing the travel plans Friday. He did not disclose their nature.

On Tuesday evening, the President will speak at a $50-a-plate dinner of the National Football Foundation, held in connection with the establishment of a Football Hall of Fame.

Daylight Time Ends Sunday

By The Associated Press

Many Americans will be able to get nine hours of sleep in eight hours Saturday night.

The Northeast, much of the eastern part of the country, and several other areas will switch from daylight time to standard time. That means turning the clocks back one hour.

Three states—California, Wisconsin and Minnesota, as well as portions of other states, went back to standard time last month.

But New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Washington, D.C., much of Pennsylvania, and parts of Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Illinois, including the Chicago metropolitan area, revert to standard time this weekend.

Some areas of Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, however, turned their clocks back to standard time last month, ahead of the rest of their states. Poplar Bluff, Mo., did the same, while St. Louis will change Sunday.

Most Indiana counties returned to standard time last month, but 24 counties, including Indianapolis, Fort Wayne and an area near Cincinnati, Ohio, plan to stay on daylight time all winter.

Much of the South and West never left standard time.

Cardinals Begin Ancient Ritual Today As First Step In Election Of New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A brief conclave and a new Italian Pope of the Roman Catholic Church were generally predicted Friday night as 52 members of the College of Cardinals prepared for the solemn election ritual.

But nobody could claim to have the answer in advance. Talk of breaking the 400-year-old tradition of Italian Popes gave rise to fresh rumors about the pre-eminence of Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, Patriarch of Cilicia of the Armenians, as the outstanding candidate.

But at the same time, other speculation has been centering about Angelo Cardinal Roncalli, well-known Patriarch of Venice, among several Italian cardinals.

Only the College of Cardinals held the key to the answer. The cardinals will meet Saturday and stay in secret session until they name the man who will rule over the world's half billion Roman Catholics.

Within the tiny city-state of the Vatican, another tiny city has been constructed. An entity to itself, it will be carefully sealed from the outside world so that there is no communication except in the direst emergency and through the strictest of censorship.

The population of this little community will be about 250-32 cardinals, each with two aides, and about 90 others, including nuns to cook for them, waiters, barbers, masons, a surgeon, two doctors, a pharmacist and several others.

All the conclavists—the assistants serving the cardinals for the duration of the conclave—took their oaths of office Friday night at the Vatican.

Reds Hold Key To Asia Peace, Dulles Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles accused Red China Friday of deliberately creating a new war scare in the Formosa area as part of a campaign to drive the United States from the Western Pacific.

He pledged anew that the Eisenhower administration, backing Nationalist China, would "stand against retreat in the face of armed aggression" to foil the Red strategy.

Dulles made the remarks in a statement issued at the White House after he reported to President Eisenhower on his three days of talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa. Dulles returned to Washington early Friday.

Dulles said the Chinese Reds' new bombardment of Quemoy, ending their own cease-fire, is designed to "throw roadblocks in the way of stabilized tranquility."

"We returned confident that the Chinese Communists will not gain their ends either through military efforts or their propaganda guile," he said.

Dulles in effect invited the Peiping regime to match Nationalist China in renouncing the use of force to achieve its objectives.

Chiang made such a pledge in a communique which he and Dulles issued jointly in Taipei Thursday. Dulles called attention to it at the White House, noting that Chiang "while keeping alive his hope for returning to the mainland — has promised to do so 'not by the use of force but by conduct and example which will sustain the minds and hearts of the mainland Chinese so that they are unconquerable.'"

Dulles said nothing in his statement about a reported understanding with Chiang to trim Nationalist forces on Quemoy by 15,000 to 20,000 men if the Reds agree to a cease-fire. This would be officially (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Posse Tracks Down, Kills Fugitive Who Slew Three Women

LINCOLN, N.C. (AP) — A vicious condition. Heavner suffered shotgun wounds in the face and arms Friday night and shot Williams was wounded in both shoulders and both hands.

Cook shot prison guard Joe Godley in the hip when Godley's bloodhounds tracked him down late Friday afternoon. Godley was reported to be in serious condition.

There was no ready explanation for Cook's blood - quest which claimed the lives of the three women.

"He's just mean," said Ambrose Hoyle, father of two of the victims, one of them Cook's wife.

The wife, Rachel, 21, was the first victim. She was shot down, apparently while running, in a driveway at their tenant farmhouse in the North Brook section, about 13 miles west of Lincoln. Cook recently had served a prison sentence for beating her.

Mrs. Cook's sister, Jeanette, 18, who had married Cook's brother, Webb, was shot to death in a back room of her home, about 200 yards away. The third victim, was Mrs. George Smith, a neighbor.

Lee Reep, a resident of the area, was one of the first persons to arrive at the slaying scene. "Roy's wife was laying in a road... a little kid, about 1½ years old, was there with her. The kid was pulling at her and crying," Reep said. "We called the ambulance and the law."

Dep. Sheriff Jack Scronce arrived and found the body of Mrs. Webb Cook inside the house.

"There were three or four kids in the house, all crying," Reep said. "All of them were too small to know what was going on."

Scronce was at the Cook home at the time the third victim, Mrs. Smith, was shot to death in a cotton field about a mile away. Mrs. Smith's daughter, 16-year-old Marjorie, was wounded twice. Marjorie had been dating Cook's younger brother.

Mississippi Railway Span Swept By Fire

CLINTON, Iowa (UPI) — A mile-long Chicago and North Western Railway bridge across the Mississippi River burst into flames Friday and burned out of control for hours, halting railway and river traffic.

The blaze billowed black smoke 500 to 600 feet into the sky and was spread across the bridge by a brisk northwesterly wind. The fire put out electrical equipment used to pivot the drawbridge and let river traffic through.

All North Western road traffic had to be re-routed to other lines, most of it over the Burlington road's bridge at Savanna, Ill.

Navy Transport Transfers 42 To Cuban Base

HAVANA (UPI) — The U. S. attack transport Kleinsmith Friday night evacuated American women and children isolated in the rebel-infested area around the U. S. nickel plant at Nicaro on the northeast coast of Cuba.

In all, 42 dependents of the American plant personnel were being removed to the U. S. Guantanamo naval base on the southern coast. The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt patrolled the coast just outside the harbor to insure safety of the evacuation operation.

U. S. Ambassador Earle E. T. Smith reported that the first group of Americans were removed to the transport by launch at 6:20 p.m.

An embassy announcement that the evacuation had begun earlier was called back pending a check. Smith at 6:30 p.m. then confirmed the removal was under way.

The transport was anchored in the Bay of Levisa. The Americans were moved aboard by launches from the transport.

The American women and children were all dependents of American supervisory personnel in the 100-million dollar nickel plant owned and operated by the U. S. government.

The American Embassy here announced that the carrier was ordered to Nicaro from the vicinity of the big U. S. naval base at Guantanamo where it had been engaged in naval maneuvers. The carrier was to "provide helicopter airlift if needed" during the evacuation and prevent any interference by insurgent guerrillas.

Decision to withdraw the American women and children was taken after Cuban government troops were recalled from the area, leaving it open to occupation by the rebels led by Fidel Castro.

The dispatch of the carrier to Nicaro after the Kleinsmith already was on the scene was a precaution against any attempt by Castro's rebels to stop the evacuation.

81 Diggers Survive Canadian Disaster, Eight Bodies Found

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (AP) — Barriers of rock and gas held 85 men captive or dead Friday night in the crumbled depths of a coal mine. It so far has yielded eight bodies.

Hope was all but abandoned for those still missing of the working shift of 174 caught by a sudden, shattering shift of rock, coal and earth Thursday night in North America's deepest coal mine.

Eighty-one men came out, some staggering to safety, others on stretchers. Seventeen of them were injured.

If the worst fears are realized, the upheaval will have taken 93 lives, the greatest toll in any Canadian mine disaster since 1933 died at Hillcrest, Alta., in 1914.

Rescue workers fought deadly gas and rock slides. For a time the gas was so bad it endangered even those with respirators. Several survivors were suffering from gas poisoning.

Queen Expresses Concern

Women and children, weary from a long vigil, stood quietly around the mine entrance waiting for word.

Queen Elizabeth II sent a message to Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey expressing her concern and asking to be kept informed of developments.

Figures on the night shift, originally reported to number 166, rose to 174. Mine officials summed up Friday night: 81 survivors, eight bodies recovered, 85 still missing.

With tears welling in his eyes, a mine official told reporters all hope is gone for men trapped in two lower levels of the mine, named Cumberland No. 2. He held out only a glimmer for the rest on a third level.

In a nearby miners' lamphouse, wives and children waited anxiously for a miraculous rescue. For many, it was a second agonizing wait. Two years ago, Cumberland No. 4, next to No. 2, was rocked by an explosion that killed 39. Some of the men trapped this time survived the one in 1956.

Two Lowest Levels Shattered

Coming with a sudden, explosive force that shook all of Springhill, the upheaval sent tons of rock, coal, and earth crashing around 172 night shift workers Thursday night.

Harold Gordon, chief of the colliery operations of the Dominion Steel & Coal Corp., brought the word of the lost hope hours after teams of rescue men had entered the mine.

Gordon said the two lowest levels of the mine were completely shattered. Floors heaved upward, jamming machinery and conveyers against the roof. Miners coming to the surface reported that gas was so bad there even men with respirators could not penetrate it.

Sputnik III Rocket Due To Put On Show

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Russia's orbiting rocket of Sputnik III is due to make a spectacular passage up the East Coast Saturday night shortly after 7 o'clock (EDT).

With clear skies the rocket-satellite should be very bright, its light fluctuating every few seconds as the baby moon tumbles in space only 200 miles high.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory says the rocket will first appear about 7:08 p.m. (EDT) in the darkening skies over the Atlantic off Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The course as it orbits in a north northeast direction will then take it just a little off the coast in the Baltimore-Washington area.

Nixon Looks To 1960 As Rockefeller Denies Interest In Presidential Race

By The Associated Press

Vice President Richard Nixon looked forward openly Friday to the 1960 presidential campaign, while Nelson Rockefeller said he has no interest in any race that far ahead.

Nixon didn't come right out and say he would be running for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence—everybody expects him to—but he called for all GOP eligibles to get into the swim.

"All of us current national figures," he said, "will be helped by developing other national figures, no matter who the candidate is in 1960."

The Nixon and Rockefeller comments came in New York, after these two leading Republicans had discussed, among other things, Rockefeller's effort to take the governorship away from Democrat Averell Harriman.

It is generally agreed that if Rockefeller should win over Harriman on Nov. 4 — a possibility scoffed at by the Democrats—he would be a top contender against Nixon for the Republican No. 1 spot in 1960.

But Rockefeller insisted: "I have no interest in the presidential nomination. All that I am interested in is becoming governor."

Nixon, campaigning across Wisconsin, later indicated he thinks Rockefeller might change his mind if he becomes governor.

Adopting an air of the more-the-merrier, Nixon volunteered that President Eisenhower had told him in 1955 that the President wanted to develop more presidential timber within the party.

This year's most active campaigner for the Democrats, former President Harry S. Truman, took it easy after another of his slambang speechmaking tours and said he has finished his efforts for all practical purposes.

"The feeling of the country is for the Democrats," was Truman's appraisal.

He told reporters in New York he plans to attend the traditional Democratic campaign windup in St. Louis Nov. 1.

The parties' national chairmen, Democrat Paul Butler and Republican Meade Alcorn, agreed in separate comments that racial or religious matters should have no place in American politics.

Pasternak Expresses Great Joy At Winning Nobel Literary Prize

No Indication If He Will Be Able To Accept

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russian authorities formally notified Boris Pasternak Friday that he had won the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature. The non-conformist writer expressed "great joy" but there still was no indication whether he would be able to accept the award.

Up to a late hour Friday night, neither Radio Moscow nor the Soviet press had made any mention of the honor conferred on Pasternak. But Communist newspapers elsewhere charged the award was an attempt to embarrass the Soviet Union, which has banned his novel, "Dr. Zhivago."

Pasternak made it plain in an interview that he would like to accept the literary world's highest award and go to Stockholm to collect the $41,250 cash award that goes with it.

But the decision is not up to him. It was officially stated Thursday night that acceptance of the award would depend on the Soviet Writers Union.

Pasternak was named the recipient of the award by the Swedish Academy of Literature in Stockholm Thursday. The official Swedish message advising him of his selection and inviting him to Stockholm in December was finally delivered to his home outside Moscow Friday morning.

In an interview at his home in a writers colony about 15 miles from Moscow, Pasternak said, "If I do travel to Stockholm, at least I will have a month and a half beforehand to relax and rest."

His selection, he said, "is a great joy for me." "What else can I say," he added. "I can't say that the news made me sad and that I wept all day. I don't feel any tremendous emotion — I'm just very glad"—and he waved his hand expressively.

A steady stream of cables of congratulations poured in to the modest two-story Pasternak home. Neighbors and friends also offered congratulations.

Pasternak, 67, lives with his wife in a five-room wooden house set back from the road in a pine woods in which he takes frequent walks. His living room is a spacious square comfortably furnished with a large center table, a good-sized television set, a refrigerator, a piece of sculpture and potted plants.

The walls are covered with drawings and paintings by his father, Leonid Pasternak, a famed artist who illustrated some of novelist Leo Tolstoy's works. Across the corridor is a smaller room with a baby grand piano. Pasternak said he used to compose music in his youth and still plays occasionally.

His household includes a big sleepy-looking cat and several dogs who roam the fenced-in grounds around the dacha (villa) and welcome guests with joyful barks and tail-waggings.

The gray-haired author, isolated from the bustle and hustle of Moscow and without even a telephone, could only guess the interest and curiosity which the announcement of his selection aroused in the West.

"Everyone there probably wants to know who this money is who received such a prize," he said with a smile.

His novel "Dr. Zhivago" published first in Italy over Soviet protests already has appeared in 18 countries. It is on the best-seller lists in the United States. Pasternak said he has received many letters from Western Europe and the United States from those who have read his novel. He said he feels a sense of responsibility and spends a lot of time answering the letters.

Tot Struck, Killed By Tractor-Trailer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two-year-old Francis Brady was killed near his home Friday when he was struck by a tractor-trailer.

Police said the child walked between two parked cars and then stepped into the street.

The driver of the truck, John K. Shipley, 25, of Monrovia, Md., said he was unaware of the accident until he felt a bump, looked into the rearview mirror, and saw the child lying in the street.

termed a streamlining operation made possible by substituting increased firepower from U.S. military aid.

Dulles said the renewed Red bombardment of Quemoy may be more for psychological than for military purposes.

The secretary praised Chiang and his Formosa government for his stand against Red China's drive to take over the coastal islands and Formosa itself.

Meantime, Nationalist big guns on Quemoy traded fire with the Chinese Reds Friday in a day-long artillery duel.

The Reds intensified their shelling for an hour in the afternoon. Then fire slackened off with Nationalist shells pounding the Red coast.

'Sniper' Sends Another Threat To Md. Teacher

BALTIMORE (AP)—Someone signing himself "The Sniper" sent another threatening note Friday apparently aimed at an Anne Arundel County teacher who was shot at last Saturday.

The latest note, crudely printed on a ruled filing card, said: "I mean what I say. I am going to kill him Saturday (sic) and you or the Cops can't stop me. I hate him. The Sniper."

The note was received in the offices of the Baltimore News-Post.

Harold E. Roth Jr., 27-year-old teacher at Fox Junior High School in Greenhaven, has told police he believes the notes may be from a teenager he barred from the school's Teen-Age Club. Roth said the youth was barred for drinking and other disorderly acts.

Roth said a shot fired last Saturday night "missed me by about 10 feet." Roth is director of the club.

An earlier note to the newspaper said "Saturday night I shot at Mr. Roth . . . I missed him but I'm going to kill him soon."

The teen center has another danger scheduled Saturday night. County Police Chief Wilbur C. Wake said plainclothesmen would surround the place and he said Roth will get "every protection."

Roth said he was "somewhat alarmed" over the threats but would be at the club Saturday.

The FBI also is investigating. Sending death threats through the mail is a federal offense.

2 Bodies Found In Ruins Of Mine

CENTRALIA, Ill. (UPI)—The bodies of a man and woman were found Friday in the ruins of the abandoned Wamac No. 5 coal mine shaft, where 111 miners died 11 years ago.

Coroner Charles W. Longwell said he is "not ruling out any eventuality as to the cause of death until after an autopsy."

However, it appeared that Charles (Bud) Jenkins, 36, and Mrs. Virginia Goostree, 45, had been killed by the deadly "black damp" gas still seeping from the bowels of the haunted shaft.

The bodies of Jenkins, a Farina, Ill., farmer, and Mrs. Goostree, a widowed Salem, Ill., barmaid, were sprawled or slumped in a four-foot pocket above the sealed entrance of the mine.

The mine shaft is the scene of one of the greatest disasters in American mining history. In 1947, a muffled blast shook the mine and 111 men were either killed instantly or trapped beyond rescue.

The secretary praised Chiang and his Formosa government for his stand against Red China's drive to take over the coastal islands and Formosa itself.

Meantime, Nationalist big guns on Quemoy traded fire with the Chinese Reds Friday in a day-long artillery duel.

Boy Shot Trying To Steal Money For Bride's Gift

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP)—An 18-year-old husband shot in a burglary attempt told police Friday he was trying to steal some money to buy a birthday present for his bride.

"Tomorrow's her birthday," said Edward Kerrigan. "It'll be the first since we got married seven months ago. I couldn't sleep thinking how disappointed she'd be if I didn't buy her something."

Kerrigan was shot in the shoulder when, police said, they surprised him trying to jimmy the safe in a private club near his home. He was booked on suspicion of burglary.

His bride, Judy, who will be 19 Saturday, broke into tears when she learned what had happened. "I didn't expect a present," she sobbed. "He should have known that. It's hard scraping along the first year you're married. We were supposed to skip birthdays for a while."

Auto Insurance Check Planned

BALTIMORE (AP)—Administrators of Maryland's new law designed to protect auto drivers against those without insurance around their first move Friday to catch some suspected of trying to beat it.

The six-man board directing the state's Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund contends that 34 car owners claimed falsely they are carrying minimum insurance.

The board has asked the attorney general for instructions on bringing the suspects to trial.

Owners in Maryland, starting this year, were asked when they applied for their license plates if they carried the state minimum liability insurance of $10,000-$20,000 for personal injury and $5,000 for property damage in an accident.

If they replied in the affirmative, they added $1 to the cost of their plates. If they didn't, it was $8 extra.

The extra money is to build up a fund from against which insured motorists could make claims if they were involved in an accident and couldn't collect from the other driver.

Payments from the fund are to start next June 1.

Owners without insurance who try to avoid the $8 fee are subject to a fine of $100 to $300 and jail sentences up to 30 days.

Eisenhower Golfs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower took advantage of the warm weather Friday and played golf at the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland.

Two other young men were arrested in a different robbery.

Alvin C. Amos 3d, 20, of Harundale pleaded guilty with taking $6,386 from a bank there June 25. Judge Watkins withheld sentence pending a report including a psychiatric examination.

Charles Frank Lampron, 18, of Harundale pleaded innocent to receiving $5,091 of the stolen money from Amos and driving him to Washington after the robbery.

Amos also was arrested in Texas at El Paso on June 28. The FBI found four loaded guns in the motel where he had been staying.

Lampron was arrested 90 minutes after the robbery in a car fitting the description of one used in the getaway.

Gls' Attorney Protests Use Of Recorders

BALTIMORE (AP)—The chief of the Military Justice Division in Washington said Friday it isn't the appropriate time to comment on a complaint that hidden listening devices recorded questioning of 11 soldiers facing court martial at Edgewood, Md.

Hyman Pressman, Baltimore lawyer who has volunteered to defend the accused at the special court martial starting Wednesday, had protested alleged use of the hidden recorders.

In a letter to the Secretary of the Army, Pressman said "most civilian jurisdictions do not use this method even when interrogating the worst criminals."

The 11 soldiers at the Army Chemical Center are charged with disorderly conduct.

Pressman demanded to "know whether the Army condones" use of hidden recorders which he called a disgraceful practice.

His complaint was referred to Col. Richard B. Tibbs, chief of the Military Justice Division.

Tibbs replied it is up to the court martial board at the trial to determine what evidence should be admitted. If it is considered to have made an error, the accused's rights are protected by a legal review, he said.

In the meantime, he added "it is deemed inappropriate to comment further at this time concerning the use of tape recorders."

The charges against the 11 Edgewood soldiers arose Sept. 25 from a farewell party they held off the military post for one of their colleagues.

The 11 are among a group of young scientists drafted for two years by the Army. All are college graduates and spend the overwhelming part of their duty week in laboratories.

School Begins New Report Card System

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School is beginning a new system of report cards.

Beginning Tuesday, students will receive flimsy copies of their reports. Hard copies will be filed in the school.

William Pyles, principal, estimated the new system will reduce clerical work on student records by 50 per cent.

The student will not be required to return the flimsy, which means parents will not have to sign the reports. Pyles said the new theory is that high school students are mature enough to deliver the reports to their parents.

He said the method is being used in a few schools in the midwest and west, but believes his is the only school using it in this area.

If the system is considered successful it will be used in all Montgomery County high schools.

Klaus Improving After Heart Surgery

BALTIMORE (AP)—Little Klaus Kaemmerer, the five-year-old German boy who underwent a "blue baby" operation Wednesday, was showing excellent improvement, Johns Hopkins Hospital reported Friday.

The youngster was operated on to correct a congenital defect of the heart which had, in effect, starved his body for oxygen which the blood was not entirely able to carry. This condition causes a bluish tinge to the skin, thus the name "blue baby."

Without corrective surgery, those affected normally die during childhood.

Klaus' expenses to this country and his medical bill were footed by contributions of U.S. soldiers stationed in Germany.

Jimmy Durante, Eddie Jackson Break Up Act

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jimmy Durante and his struttin' partner of 43 years broke up Friday and the old Schnoz is hurt because "I hadda read about it in de papers."

Jimmy said he hadn't heard from Eddie Jackson in over a week. Friday, Jackson told a reporter that he's going solo because "I got the feelin' Jimmy don't want me around."

"That," says Durante, "ain't true."

"What's Jackson goin' to do without Durante? Eddie's a second banana, he knows dat. He's still part of de act anytime he wants to come back."

It all apparently started last year when Jackson took sick and Durante replaced him with Sonny King.

"Eddie wanted to get outta his sick bed and come on at the Desert Inn — Las Vegas — but his doctor told me: 'Jimmy, if dat guy comes on, he ain't gonna live.' So I wouldn't let 'im."

After Jackson got well, Durante kept King in the act.

"I hadda keep up wid de times. You gotta have young blood. Else they woulda throwed us both out. Who's going to pay money to see a couple old guys like Eddie and me? I did it once before with Peter Lawford — and Eddie t'ought it was great."

Durante is 65 and Jackson 63. Jimmy says: "Afia 43 years you wouldda t'ought the guy woulda come up to me and said: 'Jimmy, maybe I'd like to try a single.' I wouldda advised against it, but if he wanted it dat way, I wouldda said 'Ok, Eddie, try it, but the act always will be Clayton, Jackson and Durante.'"

Lou Clayton, the third member of the show business trio that rocked Manhattan speakeasy life in the Roaring Twenties, died several years ago.

"Foist," says Durante, "I read in de papers that Liberace is fightin' with his mom and brudder George. Now I read it's Durante and Jackson. Ain't nuttin' sacred no more?"

Md. Bar Admits New Lawyers

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A total of 131 new lawyers were admitted to the Maryland bar Friday.

The group qualified by passing examinations given in July by the State Board of Law Examiners.

Stedman Prescott Jr., deputy attorney general, presented the candidates in two groups to the Court of Appeals, and Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune responded for the state's highest court. James L. Young, clerk of the court, administered the oath.

Marvin J. Land of Baltimore received the highest mark in the bar exams. Samuel L. Grebow of Baltimore was second.

Third place went to Frederick A. Thayer III of (105 Second St.) Oakland, and Stanley I. Trivas of Baltimore was fourth. There was a tie for fifth between Vincent R. Groh of (1135 The Terrace) Hagerstown and Robert V. Lazzaro of Baltimore.

A total of 144 attorneys passed the bar exams, but 13 could not attend today's ceremonies and will be sworn in later.

Others admitted included: Arthur V. Myers Jr. of (108 W. College Terrace) Frederick; Robert N. Spence of (1632 Lauran Rd.) Hagerstown; David S. Weinberg of (145 Fairview Ave.) Frederick.

No Progress In Glass Talks

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Negotiators reported no progress Friday after a bargaining session aimed at ending a strike of 25,000 employees at plants of two major glass firms in eight states.

The workers, members of the United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union, walked off their jobs at Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Libbey - Owens - Ford facilities Oct. 8.

Negotiations began here Wednesday but after three days of huddling, no progress has been reported.

The firms have plants in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

RAW FISH KEPT HIM ALIVE—Alvin Turner, fisherman from Steinhatchee, Fla., who drifted on a life raft in the Gulf of Mexico for six days, gets a kiss from his mother, Mrs. W. W. Turner, after he was brought to St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday by a Coast Guard ship. Turner's fishing partner and captain of the fishing craft died shortly before rescue. The captain, Frank Devane, also of Steinhatchee, died from drinking salt water, Turner said. Their ship broke up in heavy seas and the pair took to a balsam raft. Turner got nourishment by catching fish with his hands.

River Casino Owners Appeal To High Court

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Attorney General's office said Friday it has been notified that attorneys for Potomac River gambling casinos have taken their case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

A spokesman said an application for a stay of the Maryland Court of Appeals order which declared the anti-slot machine law legal was filed with the clerk of the Supreme Court in Washington.

A source in the court clerk's office acknowledged the request for a stay had been received.

He added it was being referred to Chief Justice Warren but that Warren was not expected to take action on it before next week.

Last week the Court of Appeals upheld the constitutionality of the law, which bans gambling at establishments that cannot be reached by foot from Maryland soil.

The state's high court upset a Circuit Court ruling which held that because the law had been passed at the short 30-day legislative session this year, it was not constitutional.

The even-year sessions of the General Assembly are supposed to be reserved for matters only of a statewide nature.

The seven casinos in question have been operating in the Potomac River opposite Charles and St. Marys counties, which granted them licenses. Several officials of Maryland and Virginia have considered them a sore spot to neighboring relations between the two states.

Today's application for a stay of the state court's ruling was a step in what is expected to be a formal appeal to the Supreme Court by the casino operators' attorneys.

Harry Truman, Nixon Let Up In Their Feuding

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman and Vice President Richard M. Nixon eased off on their feuding Friday, but neither one wanted to go too far in burying the hatchet.

Nixon referred to Truman as a "gallant warrior," and the former President said without any apparent sarcasm, "that's very nice of him."

"It's good politics," Truman said of Nixon's tactics. "Making up our differences is okay with me."

The exchange of bouquets started Thursday night when Nixon told a television audience that "there is no war party in the United States. The only party of treason in the United States is the Communist Party," the vice president added.

Truman, who in the past has refused to be in the same room with Nixon because he said the vice president charged the Truman administration with "treason," said that Nixon's remarks were "an apology."

"I never liked to be classed with people who would sabotage the government of the United States and I'm sure he understands why I feel that way," Truman told UPI.

"If he liked what I said, that's news," Nixon said.

Asked if he didn't really enjoy his feud with Truman, Nixon said, "No, but I wish he agreed with me more than he does."

Allegany Bird Club Resumes Projects

Discussion of projects and a talk on "Bird Banding" featured the first meeting of the fall and winter season of the Allegany County Bird Club, which was held Wednesday evening at the Board of Education building, with William Leeson presiding.

The installation of a bronze plaque on a memorial at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area to the late Mrs. Helen Miller was discussed. The semi-annual sale of nature stationery was combined with a sale of Christmas cards this year.

It was announced that Don Emerson of the faculty of State Teachers College, Frostburg, will be the speaker at the next meeting, November 19, at the Board of Education building. His topic will be "Conservation."

A report on a trip to Hawk Mountain Sanctuary, near Ham-burg, Pa., was given by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Reynolds. The only members of the local club to attend the two-day meet, they explained that people from all over the United States, as well as some from Canada, were there to view the hawks, among other birds migrating south. Maintained for over 25 years, the sanctuary is on the main hawk migration route south.

Mr. Reynolds, speaking on "Bird Banding," explained that it is an international project; and to qualify one must be able to recognize the species, know how to capture the birds, band and make the records. He showed how the banding net is strung up to catch the birds; the various types of bands and equipment, and also a metal trap, baited with feed.

One of three members of the local club, qualified and licensed to be a bander of birds, Mr. Reynolds reported he has banded over 100 birds since receiving his permit about two months ago. He learned the art and science of banding from Mrs. Gladys Cole, one of three outstanding authorities of the subject in Maryland. Recently he took part in the Eastern Shore banding at Ocean City.

Beauticians To Sponsor Christmas Dance, Project

Christmas parties were discussed and a nominating committee was appointed at the meeting of the Allegany County Unit 255 of the Maryland Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, earlier in the week at Central YMCA.

Personals

Mrs. Charles Hornbrook, White Avenue, is a medical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Lee Fresh, Cumberland; Miss Mabel Myers, Frostburg; and Mrs. Hope Moon, Oakland, will attend the Triennial Assembly of the Council of Church Women in Denver, Colo., Monday through Thursday.

Roscoe Radcliffe, Ridgeley, is a patient in Memorial Hospital. Sharon Shanholtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shanholtz, 1000 Frederick Street, is recuperating following an accident on Gephart School playground.

UCT To Hold Annual Ladies Night Party

The annual Ladies Night of the United Commercial Travelers 179 will be held tonight at the Ali Ghan Country Club, in the form of a dinner-dance, beginning at 7 o'clock. Music will be by the Townsmen, from 9 until 1 o'clock. John T. Morris will be master of ceremonies.

John H. Pfeiffer is general

Paul Scott was named chairman for a Christmas dance, which will be open to the public. Final plans for the regular membership Christmas banquet will be made at the meeting December 8. As usual, members will bring toys for distribution by the Salvation Army.

The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. Valetta Kinsley, Miss Elsie Henry and Mrs. Alice Halterman. Officers will be elected at the November 10 meeting. Two new members were received. They are Mrs. Patricia Petry and Mrs. George Peer.

A trophy, for obtaining most members for the association, was awarded to Mrs. Mamie Scott. She also reported on the National convention held in New Orleans in July, and told of the changes in the national by-laws.

Announcement was made by the dance committee that $107 had been realized and will be used for educational purposes of the association.

He is being assisted by Joseph Snyder Jr., Raymond Boore and Joseph Soethe.

"FASHIONS" AT PARTY — Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained its rushees at an old-fashioned costume party, held at the home of Mrs. Eva Sliviak, LaVale. Among the guests were, left to right seated, Mrs. Charlotte Northcraft, Mrs. Emma Brugh, Mrs. Sara Mullaney, Miss Patricia Golden, Miss Dolores Chase, Standing, Mrs. Frances Frank, Mrs. Kathryn Koon, Miss Shirley Sandsbury, Mrs. Loretta Smith and Miss Helen Mae Kreiling. The chapter held three parties this month in complement to its Rushees.

Sorority Entertains Rushees

Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertaining with its third party for its rushees, held a dessert bridge party Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Northcraft, Louisiana Avenue.

The Halloween theme was carried out in the decorations. Prizes were won by Mrs. Faith Bradley, Miss Shirley Sandsbury, Miss Margaret Smith and Mrs. Patricia Buskey.

Honor guests were Mrs. Bradley, Miss Shirley Schowengerdt and Mrs. Anna Kurtz. Others present were Mrs. Alpha Barb, Miss Ruth Barry, Mrs. Emma Brugh, Mrs. Frances Frank, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. LaVerne Hankins, Mrs. Mary Harrison, Mrs. Kathryn Koon, Miss Helen Mae Kreiling, Mrs. Maxine Luck, Miss LeAnn Matthews, Mrs. Sara Mullaney, Miss Ellen Newman, Mrs. Estalene Shanholtz, Mrs. Martha VanHorn and Mrs. Virginia Newman, social sponsor.

A toy demonstration will be given by Miss Alberta Ford at the meeting November 4 at the home of Miss Smith, 323 1/2 Holland Street.

Rushees also were entertained at an old-fashioned costume party, which was held at the home of Mrs. Eva Sliviak, LaVale. Honor guests were Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Ann Mozzer, Mrs. Schowengerdt, Mrs. Erika Markey and Mrs. Betty Slomiany.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Brough and Miss Kreiling, and presented name cards in the shape of old fashioned bonnets. Repeating the theme, the entertainment consisted of a taffy pull, old fashioned spelling bee, a song-fest by teams with the group joining, a guessing contest, of baby pictures with the award won by Miss Sandsbury; and Miss Matthews told several stories. Mrs. Frank's was judged the prettiest costume. The remainder

Alumnae Association Plans Masquerade Oct. 30

The Alumnae Association of Sacred Heart Hospital will entertain its members at a masquerade party October 30. It is to be held at the home of Mrs. Lucille Welsh Martin, 229 Massachusetts Avenue, beginning at 8 p. m.

There will be the usual Halloween festivities and prizes will be awarded for costumes and games. Mrs. Frances Himmler, Miss Anna Marie Dressman and Mrs. Stella Sell comprise the committee of arrangements. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Samuel Dezen and Robert Dezen won the mixed pair championship of the Western Maryland Bridge Club at a game Thursday evening at the Woman's Civic Club house.

The winning score was 194 1/2, compared to an average of 156 for the 13 tables in play. The play was particularly spirited, with only 2 1/2 points separating the first four pairs.

Runners up were Mrs. Ralph Nevy and S. Russ Minter, 194; Mrs. David Sigel and John A. Moberly, 193 1/2; Mrs. William Snyder and Hugo Keller, 192; Mr. and Mrs. George Bottorf, 180, and Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw and William W. Woolridge, Pittsburgh, 178 1/2.

Group Is Sponsoring Toy Drive, Dance For Charities

The Welfare Group of the Junior Woman's Civic Club is sponsoring a toy drive for the benefit of the Associated Charities. Mrs. Edward Mullan Jr., chairman of the committee, reports a truckload of toys already has been collected from club members.

Monday the committee plans to place containers in the schools throughout the city, and requests that children bring their old toys to school and assist in the drive. The toys will be repaired, painted and distributed to Miss Jeanette Bonig of the Associated Charities.

A dance is being sponsored by the group, also. It will be held on November 28 at the Cumberland Country Club, and is for the benefit of the Associated Charities.

Anyone who has toys to donate to this project may contact Mrs. Mullan, PA 2-3593.

Co. Farm Bureau Meeting To Be In LaVale Nov. 11

Plans for the annual meeting and tentative program of the Allegany County Farm Bureau and Associated Women were formulated at the meeting of the board Thursday evening at the Court House. Vernon Loar presided and Mrs. Robert Heavner served as secretary.

Officers of both the Associated Women and the Farm Bureau will be elected at the meeting, which will be held November 11, at 7:30 in the LaVale fire hall.

Special guests will be Randall Poreline, Baltimore, state president of the Farm Bureau; Mrs. John Young, Baltimore, state president of the Associated Women; and Wilbur Smith, Braddock Heights, retired state fieldman.

Mrs. Arch Davis will conduct the devotionals and have a memorial service. Miss Marlene Clark, county Farm Queen, and the three other winners during the four-year presidency of Mrs. Edgar Matthews, are being invited to participate in the program; as well as Harold B. Hanson's quartet.

Due to Thanksgiving, it was decided the next meeting of the board will be held November 25 at 8 p. m. in Joseph M. Steger's office.

Attending the meeting were George Clingerman, Flintstone;

WANTED MEN AND WOMEN WITH IDEAS

Do you have any advertising ideas?

We're looking for an advertisement that will tell everyone just how wonderful an All-Electric Home Laundry is. If you think you can make up an ad like this, send it along and if we like your idea we'll use it in 30 newspapers of this area.

In addition to giving you credit in the ad for your idea, we'll select the advertisement we think best and send its originator his choice of a toaster, table lamp, electric clock, or hand iron.

You don't have to be an artist . . . just make up any sort of rough drawing . . . cut pictures out of magazines or newspapers if you wish . . . then write the reasons why you like electric washers, dryers, ironers. That's all there is to it.

Hints: Most housewives prefer an All-Electric Home Laundry because it's (1) Clean, there's no smoke, soot or fumes; (2) Easily installed and moved . . . minimum plumbing and venting; (3) Safe; (4) Economical; (5) A vital part of your home's All-Electric Future. You don't have to use these features, however, in your ad. We want your ideas, so use your own imagination.

All entries must be received by January 31, 1959 and become the property of the Potomac Edison System Advertising Department.

If you want to become an ad writer, just send your ideas for Advertising Department, The Potomac Edison Co., Hagerstown, Md.

ATTENTION Teen Agers!

You teen agers have many problems! Sure, they are hard to solve, but with the right kind of help, you can find the right answer.

Have you ever discovered that God can satisfy your longings? In His Church, you work and play with other teen agers, sharing with them the experience of worship through music, Bible study, and prayer. Here you discover that others have passed through similar experiences, solved similar problems.

In the Church are adults who remember their own teen age tangles, and have come to realize that human beings are more or less alike, regardless of age. Here are leaders who can help and who really understand! The Church offers you teen agers an opportunity to be yourselves at your very best, to exercise all your powers, to make life as wonderful as your rosiest dreams.

How about it teen agers? Don't you want to give the Church a chance?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

St. Paul's Will Lay Cornerstone Tomorrow

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will lay the cornerstone of its new $620,000 edifice at ceremonies Sunday at 4:30 p. m. on the old Roman property site, Washington Street.

Speaker will be Rev. Dr. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore, president of the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, according to Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor.

Combined choirs of the church, numbering 60 voices, will provide music.

The former Philip Roman property was purchased by the congregation some years ago for $62,500. Actual contract cost for the church being constructed by George F. Hazelwood Company, is $620,000, Mr. Sammel said. Ground was broken last Palm Sunday, the first floor of the building is almost completed and all steel work has been erected.

It is hoped the congregation can use the educational wing of the new structure by the time the present church on Baltimore Street is vacated in March 1959. The present church site has been purchased by the Darling Shops.

The new structure will not be dedicated for approximately one year. It is of Colonial-style in keeping with existing structures in the Washington Street area and will contain complete facilities for a full congregational life.

Charles L. Kopp, chairman of the building committee, and Mr. Sammel will officiate at the cornerstone laying assisted by William O. Douglas, president of the Hazelwood Company.

Items to be included in the cornerstone include a Bible, the church worship hymnal, Synod books and the United Lutheran Church in America yearbook, a list of the church membership and list of members of various church organizations including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Sunday School, Men's Brotherhood, Luther League, United Lutheran Church Women, Acolytes Corps, Ushers Club, choirs and all other subdivisions of the church.

Paving Is Sought For Area Road

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a letter from Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, pertaining to a request for hard surfacing on Lower Town Creek Road.

Bonnell explained in the letter that the matter had been turned over to him by Gov. McKeldin after the governor had received a request from a resident on the roadway. Mrs. Thomas A. Wilson, who wrote Gov. McKeldin, stated that some of the roadway had been hard surfaced and it had been expected additional work would continue from year to year.

Mrs. Wilson said that nothing has been done in regard to hard surfacing the road since 1950, when the last section was completed. In his letter to the county commissioners Bonnell explained that he has notified Mrs. Wilson that the SRC has no jurisdiction in the matter as the road is a part of the county system.

A request was also received by the commissioners from C. S. Rogers, who resides on Oak Terrace in LaVale, asking that the roadway be shaded. Rogers said he is willing to grant rights of ways so that the road can be connected with U. S. Route 40 near the Pen Mar Motor Company building.

The matter was turned over to Harry Skelly, roads supervisor.

KIDDERMINSTER, England (AP)—Geoffrey Waines said he thought he was heading into a tavern parking lot when he drove his car into the River Severn. He was fined 50 pounds ($140) Thursday for drunken driving.

Dance Is Planned

The Men of LaSalle will hold a dance Thanksgiving evening at the Knights of Columbus Home, according to Paul G. Stakem, president, who has appointed Valentine Lydinger as chairman of arrangements.

PTA Adopts Resolution On Fitness Plan

The Parent-Teacher Association of Columbia Street School has adopted a resolution favoring the physical fitness program which Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education, plans to introduce in the county school system.

Pence was authorized to institute the program by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, after a pilot study disclosed that 56 per cent of the school children in the county were unable to pass a physical fitness test.

The resolution adopted by the Columbia Street PTA takes notice of concern that technological advances in recent years have eased the amount of physical activity needed by youth in everyday living, thereby producing an adverse effect on the general fitness of today's youth.

The association pledged to see that students at Columbia Street would get from two to four hours of vigorous physical activity daily, preferably outdoors, in an attempt to combat the trend towards "softness" caused by sedentary living.

The resolution has been accepted by the Allegheny County Council of Parents and Teachers and referred to its executive board for action.

Pence said that parents and teachers will be asked to help implement the program once it is instituted in the county system. Parents, he explained, will be asked to supervise home work on the exercises and also to see that their children spend some period of time in outdoor play.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Catherine Meese, this city, a brother, Alfred George, this city, and three nieces and a nephew.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where services will be conducted Monday at 4 p. m. by Rev. Arthur Vespa, pastor of White Gables Nursing Home where she had been a patient five years.

A native of Tucker County, she was a daughter of the late Scott and Mary (Hill) Nestor. Her husband, Sidney Sheets, preceded her in death. Mrs. Sheets was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Wayne, Cleveland, Ohio, and Maurice Sheets, Parma, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Etheleen Lansberry, Barberton, Ohio; three brothers, David Nestor, Oakland, Md.; Cyrus Nestor, Birmingham, Ala.; Mack Nestor, Elkins, and a grandchild.

The body will be at the Greenleaf Funeral Home after 1 p. m. today. Services will be conducted there tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. A. Brooke Withers. Burial will be in Parsons Cemetery.

Ridgeley Teen Club To Collect Toys

The Teen Club of the American Legion Post in Ridgeley is sponsoring a toy collection for needy children of the community this Christmas.

Police Chief Jack Cornett said that larger type toys are being sought which can be painted and repaired in time for distribution at Christmas. The chief said wagons, bicycles, doll carriages and beds and similar toys which can be repaired are needed.

Anyone wishing to donate toys can bring them to police headquarters in Ridgeley, according to Chief Cornett.

A Changed Army For Germany?

Armed with weapons provided for the most part by the U. S. and going through its paces with efficiency and spirit, the new German army has just completed full-scale maneuvers in West Germany.

According to reports from Bonn everything went off precisely as it ought to have done, but for one thing. Senior officers were worried. They had some doubts, it was said, whether the new German army would fight if ever called upon to do so.

This is an amazing story. Few peoples in history have shown such readiness to fight, such eagerness to close with an enemy, as have the Germans. No matter what else may be said about them, no one can ever accuse Germans of being afraid to fight. But today defense officials at Bonn are alarmed. The German soldier can no longer be stirred by appeals to patriotism, is no longer moved by the glorious traditions of a German military past.

Seeking to explain this condition, a correspondent writes that the new German soldier, even if he can be inspired by the ideal of freedom, "may feel that it is better served by coming to terms with the enemy than by inviting atomic annihilation. Officers have also found that the huge Russian strength and sense of purpose appear to awaken the feeling that historical necessity is somehow on the Russian side, that resistance is ultimately useless.

"All this is backed by a general skepticism, rising partly from the collapse of old ideals, the absence of new ones, and the ironic memory of the Allied demilitarization of Germany."

The spirit of German militarism may at last be dead.

The Hate Sheet

Racial problems in the United States are sufficiently complicated without adding to them the ugliness of hate propaganda. What arises out of 300 years of American history and tradition need not be stirred to tragedy by exaggeration and falsehood. It was reported that in cities where synagogue bombings occurred, a hate sheet, "Common Sense," edited by Conde McGinley, was distributed. Hate sheets, generally, seek to tie together prejudice against Negroes with prejudice against Jews, so that it is possible to hate two groups at once.

This particular one consisted of a single sheet of newsprint, with printed matter on both sides. The main headline reads: "Zionists Control NAACP." The subhead reads "The NAACP, supposedly a Negro organization, is controlled by Asiatic Marxist Jews who do not have the welfare of the Negro at heart! They use the Negro to create strife and discord—the oldest trick in the book—divide and conquer!"

The big lie in all this is that the Zionist movement has nothing whatsoever to do with American problems but deals only with the establishment of a Jewish state in Israel. Historically it can go back to any period in the Bible, or to the Bar Kochba Revolt (132-135) against Rome, or to the Basle Congress called by Dr. Theodor Herzl (1897). Zionism is the exact opposite from Communism, for whereas the latter is based upon dialectical materialism and is atheistic, Zionism is based upon the Biblical promise of God to Abraham concerning the land of Canaan.

The central feature of page 1 of "Common Sense" is a strip containing the photographs of Negro leaders, namely Channing Tobias, Hulan E. Jack, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell Jr., W. E. B. DuBois, Thurgood Marshall, Roy Wilkins. The contention is that these Negro leaders are Communists and under their names are listed a number of pro-Communist citations. No source is quoted; no names of organizations appear.

The printed matter accompanying these photographs is extraordinarily inflammatory. Below are photographs of five Jews: Congressman Emanuel Celler, Herbert Lehman, Felix Frankfurter, Arthur Spingarn and Senator Jacob Javits. They are described as Marxists. To my knowledge, these men are not Marxists. Herbert Lehman, who has been Governor of the State of New York and a United States Senator, is described as "Most powerful in Marxist movements." This is not true. Of United States Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, "Common Sense" says: "This Zionist Jew rules the Supreme Court with an iron fist." This is obviously untrue in the very nature of the Supreme Court.

There is a picture of Dr. Louis Finkelstein and Chief Justice Earl Warren. The caption is "Warren Studies Talmudic Law Here." Dr. Louis Finkelstein is one of the great theologians of the world, a gentleman and a scholar, the author of many distinguished works.

I am sure that Justice Warren is not studying the Talmud or Jewish law. The Talmud appears in two series—the Jerusalem and the Babylonian. It is in Hebrew and Aramaic and empolys the scholastic method to reach a conclusion. It requires profound study, taking much of a life-time. Jewish law which Justice Warren is also supposed to be studying includes not only the Old Testament and the Talmud but also the Shulhan Aruch, Responsa of the Rabbis. It would take Mr. Justice Warren the rest of his life to learn the languages, Hebrew and Aramaic, and the literature of these studies. The publication of this picture in this hate sheet can only be designed to humiliate both Dr. Finkelstein and Chief Justice Warren by implications that are false.

The other side of the sheet is more of the same, ending in a photograph of a Negro and a white woman under the caption, "Mongrelization Is the Goal." Then it says that "Here is the inevitable result of integration . . ." I wonder if anyone has any statistics on the intermarriage of Negroes and whites and the distribution of such marriages over the United States. I have sought such statistics in order to form some kind of a conclusion, but none seem to be available that can be accepted as authentic. It is understandable that such a photograph can stimulate antagonism in some areas, but no names are given as to the Negro and white woman who are dancing together. Are they actors who posed for this picture or what is this?

'I Have Trouble Telling Them Apart'

A Religious Issue In Minnesota Senatorial Race?

MINNEAPOLIS

By Joseph Alsop

"The only hope is the religious issue."

The maker of the foregoing remark was one of the most eminent Republicans hereabouts. He would normally be horrified by any mingling of religion and politics. Even this year, when Minnesota Republicans need all the help they can get from whatever source, he was visibly uneasy about what he was saying. This is one reason why his remark is a good measure of the plight of the Republican party in this state.

There is another reason too. By implication, this reference to the "religious issue" conceded a rather general Democratic victory. Religion does not figure in any way in the Governorship race here. The Republican nominee, George McKinnon, strangely manages to combine dimness with shrillness; and he is universally expected to be badly beaten by the exceptionally able Democratic incumbent, Orville Freeman. In fact religion does not figure at all in this Minnesota election, except in the race for the Senate.

Hence this eminent Republican was really saying that his party's only chance to save something from the wreck lay in the Democratic Party's choice of a Catholic candidate, Rep. Eugene McCarthy, to run for the Senate in this dominantly Lutheran state. Everyone else here agrees that the one Minnesota contest with any interest or excitement is the contest between McCarthy and good, bumbling Republican Sen. Ed Thyne.

No one, least of all this reporter, can really tell whether the Lutherans' prejudice against a Catholic candidate will overcome McCarthy's apparent lead.

According to the latest local poll, he is now ahead by 50 to 45, with 5 per cent undecided.

The great Lutheran concentration in the Scandinavian rural counties of northern Minnesota. These people are also the strongest adherents of the newly powerful Democratic-Farmer-Labor coalition in this state; and they actively and almost unanimously detest the Eisenhower administration's farm policies. So the question seems to be whether they will decide, in the privacy of their polling booths, that they hate Rome or Ezra Benson the most.

To complicate their decision, there is the fact that Sen. Thyne, though a Lutheran himself, is married to a Catholic. To complicate the whole situation, there is the further fact that many of the staunchly Republican farm-ers in southern Minnesota are German Catholics. Thus any appeal to religious prejudice can cut both ways. Just to give credit where credit is due, it must be added that Sen. Thyne is not the sort of man who would be likely to make an open appeal to prejudice in any case.

Other ingredients in this Minnesota Senate race are Presidential aspirations, past and future. Sen. Thyne can be figuratively described as the last surviving province of the once-proud political empire of the ambitious Harold Stassen. He was the man Stassen picked as his Lieutenant Governor, when Stassen was getting ready to enter the Navy, in preparation for entering the Presidential stakes after the last war. The Stassen link will be the reverse of helpful to Thyne.

Meanwhile, the restorer and re-builder of the Minnesota Democratic party, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, has bet a large share of his own Presidential prospects on Gene McCarthy. Humphrey hopes to return to Washington with McCarthy by his side, and with the legend, "We won everything in formerly Republican Minnesota," inscribed upon his banners. If he can do that, he will at once become an active, if not an avowed candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1960. Humphrey-for-President contributors are already quite visibly and openly preparing to dig deep to finance the campaign. Humphrey makes no secret of the fact that he will be a candidate if McCarthy wins, but prudently says he will hold back if McCarthy is beaten.

Finally, it is difficult to avoid the suspicion that Humphrey's Presidential ambitions had something to do with the original choice of the Catholic, McCarthy, to run for the Senate here. To be sure, McCarthy was probably the best available choice, being a man whose intelligence and charm are admitted even by the Republicans. But it will also be pretty useful to Humphrey, in a contest with Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts, particularly, if he can exhibit as his own creation the first Catholic Senator ever elected in Minnesota.

Altogether this is another race with big stakes riding on the outcome.

REPLY
Your description suggests a circulatory disorder confined to one toe. Apparently the flow of lymph or blood is so poor the fluids cannot escape when the leg is dependent, as in standing or sitting. When lying down, the flow does not have to compete with gravity and, as a result, swelling subsides by morning. I assume there is no pain and that the toe was not injured.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An American tourist drooled over the "specialite de la maison" in a Paris restaurant, and entreated the chef to reveal the recipe. "Eet is very simple," declared the chef. "One takes merely a thick slice of beef, mushrooms, tomatoes, mustard, salt, a leetle water—" "Just how much water?" cut in the tourist, writing furiously. "As I told you, a leetle," repeated the chef. "Me. I use about one mouthful."

Words of wisdom culled from the Irish Digest:

You can tell how healthy a man is by what he takes two at a time—stairs or pills. It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has a very great deal of work to do. Card-playing can be expensive, but so is any game where you hold hands. We drink to one another's health and spoil our own.

Delaware Congressman's Dairy Has Government Food Contracts

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In another report to the voters, this column turns the political spotlight to-day on vigorous young Congressman Harry Haskell Jr., GOP blueblood, who is running for re-election in Delaware.

No backseat Congressman, Haskell served as a top consultant in the Eisenhower administration before his election two years ago. He worked first with Oveta Culp Hobby, former Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, then with Nelson Rockefeller, now a candidate himself for governor of New York.

In his own biographical sketch for the Congressional Directory, Haskell boasted of a fact that he is now desperately trying to hush up—namely, that he "operates Greenhill Dairies, Inc., in Wilmington, Del."

He has a good reason for trying to hide his connection with Greenhill Dairies. Army records reveal the firm was awarded a fat contract last February to supply milk to the Walter Reed Hospital and Old Soldiers Home, both of Washington.

It happens to be against the law for a Congressman to have any interest in a government contract. The conflict-of-interest statute states clearly: "Whoever being a member, or delegate to, Congress . . . either before or after he has qualified, directly or indirectly, himself, or any other person in trust for him, or for his use or benefit, or on his account, undertakes, ex-behalf of the United States or any agency thereof, by any officer or person authorized to make a contract in its behalf, shall be fined not more than $3,000. . . ."

The law further declares that any violation automatically voids the contract and profits must be repaid "forthwith."

Congressman Haskell's embarrassing biographical sketch discloses an obvious interest in the Greenhill Dairies. Under Army contract those dairies have been supplying Walter Reed Hospital with 215,000 half pints and 5,500 quarts of milk plus 14,000 quarts of buttermilk each month. The same Greenhill Dairies have also been supplying the Old Soldiers Home with 22,000 quarts of milk, 15,000 half pints, and 500 five-pound cartons of cottage cheese monthly.

Richard McCauley, Greenhill Dairies treasurer, admitted to this column the facts about the Army contract. He tried to claim, however, that Haskell had severed his connections with the firm after his election to Congress. It was pointed out to McCauley that Haskell wrote his biographical sketch, claiming to be the operator of Greenhill Dairies, after entering Congress.

This column also tried to call the Congressman, who was campaigning beyond telephone reach. His office offered to locate him and get his comment. This was over a week ago and his comment still has not arrived.

Significant Dates

October 4, 1957 and October 4, 1958 will go down as two significant dates in current American history. It was on October 4 one year ago that an astonished America woke up to find that Russia had jumped ahead in the race to conquer outer space by launching the first sputnik.

It was on October 4, 1958, just three weeks ago, that Americans woke up to find that a hate-mongering dynamite had blown up the schoolhouse in the town of Clinton, Tenn. The event was significant not merely to the people of Tennessee but to the entire United States because it emphasized two things:

1. We have been either standing still or slipping backward in education while Russia has been pushing ahead.

2. A series of bombings, occurring all over the United States, have inaugurated an era of hate and fear in which some religious groups have not been able to worship without police protection. ecutes, holds, or enjoys, in whole or in part, any contract or agreement, made or entered into in

News of these bombings, published in the European and Asiatic press, have given the United States a worse black eye than our scientific defeat at the hands of the first Russian sputnik. We have been considered a nation of democracy and idealism, yet now the world sees us as dynastors of schools and places of worship.

American Reaction

In one respect, however, reaction to the school-bombing has been healthier than the aftermath of the sputnik. The American people can do something about the bombing. They can't do much about launching a satellite. And while the administration in Washington has pledged only $20,000 aid to Clinton, Tenn., all sorts of Americans are sending dollars and dimes to help the children of Clinton build a new schoolhouse in a typical outpouring of American generosity.

The Textile Workers of America sent $500 for Bricks for Brotherhood. The school children of California's El Cerrito High School collected among themselves $70-60. The Franklin Institute Squadron of the civil air patrol in Philadelphia decided to contribute all their dues collected last week. The cadets of the Lower Merion air patrol just outside Philadelphia decided to do the same.

The Salt River Valley Classroom Teachers Association of Phoenix, Ariz., immediately sent $50 and wrote that they would further take the matter up with the Arizona Education Association when it meets in Tempe, Ariz., next week.

One of the most emphatic and significant letters came from J. H. Kauffman, president of the Diversy Engineering Company. He wrote:

"I feel along with you that ours is a government of laws, not of dynamite. As founder and president of Diversy Engineering Company I feel along with you that the citizens of Clinton should not be penalized for the un-American acts of irresponsible terrorists and idiots.

"My company is engaged in highly sensitive secret missile and space projects in our plants in Huntsville, Ala., and Franklin Park, Ill. I feel that these creatures are doing more harm than could a full squad of saboteurs achieve in the most sensitive areas of our plants."

Mr. Kauffman enclosed a generous contribution for Bricks for Brotherhood.

That's the way the American people come to the aid of their fellow men, when the U.S. government doesn't.

How Would You Do It?

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — If you were boss of the Kremlin, where would your main efforts at subversion of the United States be directed?

Would it be the Middle East? The Pacific? Europe? Or would actions there be diversions while you built up your main front in the United States' backyard — Latin America.

Pedro Beltran, former Peruvian ambassador to the U. S. and publisher of La Prensa in Lima, thinks that the last is the master Communist plan.

In a speech before the Economic Club of New York, he warned:

"To the Communists, Latin America is infinitely more important than the Arab world. For here they can create the most difficult problems on the very doorstep of their Number One enemy — the United States."

The Russians aren't missing that bet, while at the same time, they are keeping us on the defensive all around the world.

Senator Beltran cited the experience of Vice President Nixon as evidence of this. The troubles Nixon experienced in Lima and in Venezuela, in his opinion, were due to Communists, whose "aim was to develop the Nixon riots into a sort of 'cause celebre' that would have impaired the unity of our family."

Senator Beltran wants the Western Hemisphere countries to become a "family of nations," patterned somewhat along the lines of the British Commonwealth. While this plea is for greater American help, he makes this pointed comment:

Fort Hill To Battle Westminster Tonight

Blackhawks Test Lions At Romney

Important CVAL Tilt On Tap Here; Berlin To Invade Northern

Westminster High School's Owls come here tonight to engage Fort Hill High School's Sentinels in an important game which Coach William P. Hahn's eleven must win to remain in the running for the championship of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

The only blemish on the C.V.A.L. record of Westminster this season is an 18-14 setback at the hands of North Hagerstown which interrupted Fort Hill's 16-game winning streak by holding the Hawks to a 6-6 draw last week in the Hub City. The Owls are 2-1 in league play while Fort Hill has won two games and played one tie.

Hubs Lead Race

North Hagerstown is leading the race at the present time with a 4-0-1 mark and winds up its league campaign with Frederick in the Hub City on November 14. If Mel Henry's team whips the Cadets, the Sentinels would have to down Westminster, South Hagerstown and Allegany to tie the Hubs for the title. Fort Hill copped the crown with a 7-0 record last season and shared the title with Hagerstown in 1956.

Fort Hill has whipped Westminster seven consecutive times since their series started in 1951. The Sentinels were extended to beat the Owls last year and the Carroll Countians looked like a winner until the last seven minutes of play when Fort Hill rallied for 27 points to pull out a 34-14 decision.

Fort Hill is favored to win tonight's game but the Owls could make it interesting.

The opening kickoff is set for 8 o'clock.

Ridgeley Tests Lions

West Virginia School for the Deaf, leader of the Potomac Valley Conference, will be shooting for a perfect season in the 10-club circuit when it winds up its four-game schedule with Ridgeley High School today at 2:30 P.M. at Romney. It's homecoming day and the Lions will crown a football queen during halftime ceremonies.

Coach Donald Bullock's team is tied with Keyser for first place in the P.V.C. at 3-0 at the present time. Keyser's remaining games are with Petersburg and Romney. Ridgeley has been as hot as a firecracker the past three weeks during which time Tom O'Connor's Blackhawks scalped Moorefield, Petersburg and Romney and today's game could go either way. This is a conference final for the Hawks who close the season with LaSalle next week. The Lions clobbered Ridgeley last year by the score of 57-0.

Records of the teams:

Northern Hosts Berlin

Northern High School's Huskies, defeated five times to date, will be still trying for its initial win when it tackles Berlin-Brotherlyville (Pa.) High School in a homecoming game today at 1:30 p.m., EST at Accident. Miss Pat McKenzie will be crowned Miss Football 1958 at this game.

On the collegiate front, Potomac State (1-3-1) goes to Takoma Park, Md., to play Montgomery Junior College and Shepherd's Rams (3-1-1) step out of the conference to do battle with Newport News Apprentice School in Virginia.

Seek 7th Straight

Potomac State will be angling for its 7th straight win over Montgomery College. Since this series opened in 1948 the Catamounts have won by scores of 26-0, 37-0, 55-0, 32-0, 33-7 and 12-7.

Lambert Trophy At Stake As Panthers Battle Army

Northwestern Faces Iowa, Buckeyes Test Wisconsin Badgers

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Saturday is a day unlike any other day so far during the 1958 college football season. Here, among other things, is what's going to happen:

1. A Lambert Trophy winner all but formally chosen.
2. A big step taken in picking the Ivy League, Big Ten, Skyline Southern and Southwest conference champions.
3. Some highly ranked teams forced to prove just how good they really are.

The Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern supremacy, goes into the line at Pittsburgh where Army, the nation's top team, meets Pitt in a game televised regionally in the East.

Cadets Crippled

The Cadets, with a 4-0 record, will have to play without fullback Harry Walters and with a highly curtailed Pete Dawkins, the star halfback with a charley horse.

The Panthers, 4-1, are in good physical shape. Ohio State (No. 2) with a 2-0 Ivy League record, and 4-0 overall, meets powerful Wisconsin, 1-1 in conference play. Then to the West, unbeaten Northwestern (No. 8) 2-0 in the Big Ten plays Iowa (No. 7), also 2-0. Ohio State and Northwestern are paired for the following week.

In the East, the same situation exists. Harvard (1-1) and Dartmouth (2-0) in the Ivy League play each other, while Princeton travels to Cornell where they respectively 2-0 records will be tested. Princeton and Dartmouth, who meet in their last game Nov. 22, are expected to decide the title then.

West of the Mississippi, Wyoming (3-0) plays New Mexico (2-0) with the winner the probable Skyline conference title.

Texas Battles Rice

Texas (No. 4) plays Rice in the Southern Conference. Rice is 2-0. Texas 1-0 in conference play, while idle Texas Christian (No. 16) is also 2-0. The winner of the Texas-Rice game could begin looking toward the Cotton Bowl.

Virginia Tech plays West Virginia in the Tobacco Festival Bowl and Virginia Military meets Davidson, in Southern Conference games. All four teams have 1-0 records. The conference title could be won by one of them.

Get Coffee Break

Bob Hofman, the weight lifting chief from York, Pa., and president of the Middle Atlantic A.A.U. is staging the national 30-kilometer run at York Nov. 2 under a new system that'll give the tail-end runners a "coffee break."

"Usually in this race all the leaders get a chance to eat and drink from a moving truck while doing the 18-plus miles," said Bob. "But we're running this thing in four laps. Everyone, leaders and tail-enders, will pass the refreshment stand four times."

Scoring in every period, Franklin High's Panthers routed Circleville's Indians yesterday in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Franklin by the score of 53-0.

Both teams carried a 1-5-0 mark into yesterday's engagement, but the Panthers outclassed the Indians in practically every statistics department.

Steve Conrad, on the first play from scrimmage, got the Panthers roaring when he ran 60 yards for the touchdown. Lacy Pennybacker, who tallied four of the winners' extra points, ran the conversion to give Franklin a lead of 53-0.

Minutes later, Conrad, on a four-yard plunge, tacked on his second of three six-pointers.

Also in the first half, Pennybacker plunged over from four yards out and ran for the point after to send the Panthers to a 20-0 first quarter lead.

Kile Runs 45 Yards

Just after the second period opened, Bill Kile raced through the middle of the Circleville line on a quick opening play and rambled 45 yards for the score.

Jack Simon, Franklin quarterback, raced around end on the option play later in the second quarter, and picked up 12 yards and a TD to give the Panthers a 33-0 half-time edge.

Kile started things all over again the period after intermission when he skirted his own left end for 12 yards and the Panthers' sixth touchdown.

Substitute Gary Hammer intercepted a pass from the arm of Circleville quarterback Harper on his own 45 and galloped the remaining distance for the day's longest touchdown scamper.

Conrad closed out the winners' scoring onslaught in the final frame on a 27-yard off-tackle play.

Game Is Cancelled

Franklin's game with Marlinton, billed for Friday, has been cancelled through mutual agreement of the two schools.

Bay-Controlling Buckeyes

Here's why Army had so much pre-game respect for Pittsburgh. In their first three games with the Panthers at Pittsburgh, the Cadets lost 'em all. They lost five of the first seven games in the series.

Ohio State continues to give lessons in ball control. The Buckeyes ran off 73.5 plays per game up to this week to only 53 plays for the opposition. Woody Hayes figures the other guy can't score if he doesn't have the ball.

Real name of Hogan (Kid) Bassey, Nigeria's world featherweight champ who goes in a non-title fight at Madison Square Garden Oct. 31, is Okon Bassey Asuquo. He meets Carmelo Costa in the Garden feature.

Paper Firm Grows During Recession

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has continued its vigorous growth during the current recession, which appears to have passed the low point, David L. Luke, president, told members of the Richmond, Va., Society of Security Analysts.

He said the company is engaged in a $200,000,000 rebuilding program, now about three-fourths completed, which will give it as much capacity in plants at Luke, and Covington, Va., and Charleston, S.C., as it had at the end of the war in all six of its mills.

The Luke mill, now being rebuilt, will by the mid-1960s be one of the most modern and low-cost fine paper mills in the world, producing close to 1,000 tons a day, he reported.

Mr. Luke said the company has been more than ordinarily sensitive to the impact of the business recession because its improvement program has added heavily to current operating expenses.

He said the company's earnings, for the first nine months of 1958 about 30 per cent below those of the same period of last year, also have suffered because of the long time required to break in and bring to top performance major new production facilities installed in the company's mills before the recession.

"Current indications are that the low point of the current recession has passed," Mr. Luke said, adding that this means the firm has passed the low earning point, "especially if the price structure of our industry is strong enough and resilient enough to cover cost increases as they develop."

Four Ask Repairs To Road In County

A four-man delegation from the Mt. Savage area appeared at yesterday's meeting of the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners to request repairs to a road leading off the Bald Knob Road.

They were told that they must obtain a petition signed by all the property owners along the road requesting the repairs and deeding the necessary 30-foot right-of-way to the county. Members of the delegation were Donald C. Rice, William E. Rice, John Crigger and Frank Crigger.

Man Ordered Held For Jury

David Lawrence Green, 26, of Eckhart, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of breaking and entering Eckhart Elementary School last week.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Green held for action of the January term of the grand jury. He was committed to the County Jail in default of $500 bond.

Green was returned here this week from Uniontown, Pa., where he was apprehended by police.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said the school was broken into last Thursday and a typewriter was stolen.

Walter S. Tasker, who is being held in the County Jail, will be given a preliminary hearing today at 10 a.m. in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of false pretenses.

Tasker, who police said passed several bad checks for about $60, was returned here this week from Washington, Pa., where he was arrested.

The states' attorney's office said Tasker indicated he would seek an immediate trial on criminal information.

This is the last of our 1958 Chrysler and has been driven only 800 miles by one of the executives of the company. It will carry a new car warranty and title. The equipment includes automatic transmission with push-button controls, power steering, signal lights, backup lights, white side-

wall tires, windshield washers, undercoat and many other small accessories. The body has a light green enamel paint and the top is white. The V-8 engine and tor-

Market Is Forced Lower By Late Selling Pressure

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market ended lower Friday on increased selling pressure toward the close.

Key stocks finished off fractionally to about 1 point and, for the first time in 10 weeks, the market ended the week with an average loss.

Despite the general slump for basic stocks, there were quite a few selected issues which scored big gains. Also, the railroad list moved ahead for the second straight day.

Chemicals and drugs lagged all day and finished near the bottom. Aircrafts gave up early gains and ended lower. Airlines and metals concession.

AFL-CIO Takes Resignation Of C. E. Stutzman

Allender Is Named Area Vice President

Acting under an AFL-CIO mandate, the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO Council yesterday accepted the resignation of C. E. Stutzman, vice president of Teamsters Local 453, here, and three other Teamster officials who have been serving as area vice presidents.

The unanimous action was taken yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Fort Cumberland Hotel, according to W. F. Strong, president of the State AFL-CIO.

The resignations, which Mr. Strong said had been on file "for some time" included those of Mr. Stutzman, Paul Reynolds of Salisbury, E. R. Butler of Hagerstown and Charles Bell of Washington.

Elected to fill the vacancies were F. Patrick Allender, of Cumberland; John R. Holden, secretary-treasurer of the Washington Building Trades Council; Thomas Willey, Cambridge, president of the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula Central Labor Council; and Walter Bierwagen, executive manager of the Washington Transit Workers Union.

Allender Named

Mr. Allender is president of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council, business agent of Carpenters Local 1024 here and president of the Maryland Council of Carpenters.

Lester Lushbaugh, Hagerstown, was elected to fill a vacancy caused by the death of C. F. Preller, Washington, Mr. Strong said.

Two of the Teamster vice presidents, Mr. Bell and Mr. Butler, were present when the action was taken. Others were absent due to prior commitments, Mr. Strong said.

Both offered future cooperation with the state body in accordance with their ability under the present arrangement, Mr. Strong said.

No Break Expected

Mr. Strong said the action was taken with deep regret since the Teamsters board members have for many years rendered loyal cooperative efforts "to all of our worthwhile endeavors."

"I feel deeply about it personally, because of more than 20 years of daily contact with these men."

He later added that the state AFL-CIO "had no alternative" in the matter, as it was "acting under a mandate from the National AFL-CIO."

He added the resignations do not mean any break in the relations of Teamsters unions with local or area councils.

Late last year, Mr. Stutzman voluntarily resigned his position as recording secretary of the Western Maryland Central Labor Council.

The 1,600-member Local 453 is still paying per capita tax to the Western Maryland Council and to Building Trades and Heavy Construction councils here.

To Study Results

The state council yesterday adopted a resolution condemning the Kooz Creamery of Baltimore for what the council termed an anti-labor attitude and open defiance to employ efforts to secure bargaining rights.

Plans were made to hold a special meeting, prior to the next regular meeting in Washington January 24, to evaluate the outcome of the November 4 election and to chart the course of future political campaigns.

State AFL-CIO officials have been under heavy pressure to take action on the resignations since the International Brotherhood of Teamsters last year was expelled from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges.

Early this year, Harry Cohen, Baltimore Teamster official and head of the State AFL-CIO Council, resigned. The board accepted his request to resign "rather than mar (my) record by expulsion."

Mr. Strong, president of Local 555, Meat Cutters Union, Washington, succeeded him as president.

Car Hits Truck, Damages Rail

A 21-year-old San Angelo, Texas, youth was charged with reckless driving yesterday after a rather spectacular two-vehicle crash on U.S. Route 30 near the Somerset-Bedford county line.

Billy E. Bridges was driving a sedan which ran into the rear of a truck operated by Paul Hammer, 44, of Jennerstown, and tore out three highway guard posts and a section of steel cable. The accident occurred at 9:45 a.m. (EST).

Police said the youth, unfamiliar with the highway, was descending a hill and attempted to pass the truck but oncoming traffic forced him to apply his brakes.

The car swerved to the right and rammed the rear of the truck, then tore out the guard posts. One section of cable kept the car from continuing down over the mountain. Neither driver apparently was hurt. Bridges was fined $15 by a justice of the peace.

Utility Pole Snapped In Truck Crash

Three teletype circuits as well as a number of telephones were knocked out of order last evening when a tractor-trailer snapped a utility pole on Baltimore Avenue near Goethe Street.

City police received a call about 5:50 p.m. that the tractor-trailer was involved in the accident. James H. Koch, 36, of Cambridge, Ohio, said he was forced over to the right of the street by an oncoming car traveling east on the street.

Police said the pole was snapped near the base and about half-way up. Traffic was halted for about 10 minutes until it was determined the wires, which had fallen were not "hot."

A crew from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company was sent to replace the pole. A company spokesman said three teletype circuits between here and Bedford were knocked out but they were re-routed, resulting in little delay in service.

Police placed no charges against the driver. Miscellaneous freight on the trailer was damaged slightly.

The tractor-trailer is owned by the Roadway Express. The driver was traveling from Laurel to Cambridge, Ohio, and was descending Baltimore Avenue when the accident happened.

School Officials Will Attend Md. Conference

Most of the supervisors in the Allegany County public school system will be in Baltimore Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week attending a conference of school supervisors from throughout Maryland at the Hotel Emerson.

"Moving Ahead In Education" is the general theme for the conference, according to Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools. Dr. Pullen will deliver the principal address at the opening session of the conference Monday morning.

On Tuesday morning the speaker will be Dr. Walter Anderson, assistant dean of education, New York University. Dr. Harold C. Hand, professor of education at the University of Illinois, will be the chief speaker at the Wednesday morning session.

Planning to attend the state conference are Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer, Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools; Miss Margaret E. Doak, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mildred Willison, supervisors of elementary education; Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education; J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of art education; Miss Ruth C. McCollly, supervisor of home economics; Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education; Miss Esther M. Carter, Frederick H. Sheeley and Eugene J. Hopkins, visiting teachers; Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, had planned to attend, but illness will prevent his attendance.

Tawes Pledges Leadership In Road Safety

Candidate Outlines Five-Point Program

By The Associated Press

J. Millard Tawes claimed Friday that vigorous leadership by the governor is needed to push through the Maryland Legislature some measures to promote highway safety.

"I intend to provide that leadership," the Democratic candidate for governor said while campaigning in Frederick County.

Many bills aimed at making the highways safer have been introduced in recent legislatures, "but virtually none are passed," Tawes pointed out.

"The truth is, that in the past, the people proposing the laws have never been able to agree on just what ought to be passed."

"What is needed—if we are to get off dead center in this vital problem—is vigorous leadership by the governor of the state."

The governor for the past eight years has been Republican Theodore R. McKeldin. The majority in the legislature has been Democratic.

Tawes said he would press for a five-point program, all of which has been before the legislature.

He called for a new registration of all drivers coupled with physical examinations of some, a system of prompt revocation of licenses for chronic offenders, inspection of motor vehicles, expansion of driver education in high schools and more state police.

Enough Talk

"We have had our fill of talk about highway safety," Tawes said. "I intend to provide action."

James P. Devereux, the Republican candidate for governor, issued a new challenge to Tawes to justify his position on a proposed state pay raise for school teachers.

Devereux promised to drop the subject as a campaign issue if Tawes will meet his conditions.

Devereux has been attacking Tawes' stand that pay raises costing 12 million dollars can be made without increasing taxes.

Devereux asked Tawes to obtain statements from his two colleagues on the Board of Revenue Estimates agreeing this can be done "without drastically cutting appropriations for essential state services."

Devereux issued his statement while touring Baltimore City with Gov. McKeldin.

Devereux Raps Tawes

The GOP candidate in a later campaign statement Friday criticized Tawes for not showing up Thursday night at a meeting he was scheduled to address along with Devereux.

Tawes was in Baltimore for the United Democratic Women's Convention instead of appearing at an Annapolis meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

In his place, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee sent Dr. Clarence Long, Johns Hopkins economics professor.

Devereux declared that Tawes "runs at the first pop of a quiz gun—away from the pop."

He sends a substitute. He usually sends Dr. Long, the professor—who was defeated for the Senate seat in the Democratic primary.

"Dr. Long is smarter than my opponent. But there is another advantage in using him, in the view of Mr. Tawes' bosses. He can duck the issues more gracefully."

Devereux also replied to Tawes' Continued on Page 10, Col. 3

Red Cross Honors Gray Ladies

Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross held a reception and tea yesterday afternoon in honor of the Gray Ladies and local hospital officials who work with this corps of volunteers. Shown here are, left to right, Mrs. Marietta C. Early, director of nursing service at Sacred Heart Hospital; Sister Theodora, director of the School of Nursing, Sacred Heart Hospital; Mrs. Mary Jane Frey, public health nurse who just received her Red Cross nursing emblem; and Mrs. Gladys Brooks, director of Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. These nurses were among the guests of honor.

Pa. Trucker Hospitalized In Accident

A 40-year-old Defiance, Pa., truck driver was reported in "critical" condition last night at Bedford County Memorial Hospital where he was admitted yesterday morning suffering from injuries sustained when two trucks crashed just west of Schellsburg on U.S. Route 30.

Lewis C. Davis, an employee of the Department of Highways of Pennsylvania, sustained a fractured left leg and left thigh and lacerations of his right leg and thigh.

The victim was pinned in the cab of the truck for about an hour before he was freed and taken to the Bedford hospital. The truck he was driving was demolished, and damage to the vehicle amounted to about $2,200.

The driver of the other truck was Clarence R. Keller, 31, of Central City, who was operating a diesel-powered truck loaded with coal.

Police said the diesel truck crawled up over the front of the other truck and pinned Mr. Davis in the wreckage. Davis was traveling west on the highway and Mr. Keller was traveling east.

Damage to the coal truck owned by Robert G. Long of Central City was estimated at $2,300, according to police who said the grille work, both front fenders, radiator and motor were damaged.

An investigation is continuing, police said. The crash occurred at 5:20 a.m. (EDT) about one and a half miles west of Schellsburg.

Teen Club To Meet

West Side Teen Club will meet Monday at the Moose Home from 7 until 10 o'clock. Twelve to 18 year olds are invited.

Daylight Time Officially Ends Here Tomorrow

Residents of the Cumberland area will get an extra hour of sleep tonight when Allegany County changes back to Eastern Standard Time from Daylight Saving Time.

The six-month period of Daylight Saving Time will end officially at 2 a.m. tomorrow. Clocks will be turned back to indicate an hour earlier.

In September, the Board of County Commissioners passed a resolution extending DST until the fourth Sunday in October. Usually the daylight time ends the fourth Sunday in September.

This was the second consecutive year the county has remained on DST for six months. Daylight Saving Time began here the last Sunday in April.

Elderly Folks Must Reapply For Exemptions

The 239 Allegany County property owners who got 1958 tax exemption because the combined income of husband and wife was less than $100 a month and both are over 65 years of age must file anew for 1959 tax exemption, James G. Stevenson, clerk to the County Board of Commissioners, reiterated yesterday.

Early in October, Mr. Stevenson issued a reminder that a new application for tax exemption must be filed by elderly property owners each year. Many elderly taxpayers apparently are of the opinion that only one application is necessary.

So far some 360 tax exemption forms for 1959 taxes have been mailed to elderly residents. They must live in the property for which tax exemption is sought.

The applications must be filled in and returned to the county commissioners' office at the Court House before December 10. Property on which tax exemption is being granted this year has a total assessed valuation of about $600,000.

Holy Name Breakfast Planned Tomorrow

The Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society will hold its annual breakfast tomorrow after the 9 o'clock mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Members are asked to assemble in the basement of the church at 8:45 a.m. (EST) to attend the service in a body.

Correction

The article in yesterday's News about Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris' ruling on a contract between a divorced man and wife was incorrect in one respect. It was Jennings B. Robinson and not Elizabeth J. Robinson who obtained the divorce May 2, 1957.

Equity Suit Filed

Viola C. Westfall filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday against Wallace N. Westfall.

Hospitals Praise Work Of Red Cross Gray Ladies

Representatives of Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart Hospital, Allegany County Infirmary and the Allegany County Chapter Red Cross, paid individual tributes yesterday to the Red Cross Gray Ladies for the work they are doing voluntarily for patients in these institutions.

At an informal reception and tea honoring the city's 41 Gray Lady volunteers, George Schwarzenbach, speaking for the Red Cross board of directors praised the interest, understanding and sacrifice in time of each member of the Gray Ladies.

Mrs. Gladys Brooks, director of the School of Nursing at Memorial Hospital; Sister Theodora, director of the School of Nursing at Sacred Heart Hospital; Mrs. Marietta C. Early, chairman of nursing services for the Red Cross Chapter, and Earl Grimm, superintendent of Allegany County Infirmary, expressed their appreciation for the comfort and cheer these Red Cross volunteers bring into the sick rooms of the hospitals.

The hours spent reading, writing letters, running errands, or just visiting, help many ill and injured people along the road to recovery. In the infirmary, it was pointed out, where most of the patients are aged and infirm, the visits are especially welcomed.

Each member of the Gray Ladies here, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, Red Cross executive, spends about four hours a week on volunteer duty. Before being assigned to this work, each must complete a required course of Red Cross and hospital training.

As a special feature at yesterday's reception held in the Red Cross rooms, Post Office building, Mrs. Jane Frye, a county health nurse, was presented her Red Cross emblem, signifying that she has completed the required number of hours in special Red Cross nursing training and nursing service as a volunteer.

Mrs. Mortimer Schaidt was hostess for the tea and reception.

Cab Injures Woman

An Illinois woman was injured here last night when she was struck by a taxi cab in front of the Algonquin Hotel.

Miss Emily Smith, 45, was treated at Memorial Hospital for an abrasion of her leg. The accident occurred about 7:05 p.m. The cab driver, Byrl A. Gibson, 531 North Mechanic Street, was charged with reckless driving, police said.

The driver was reported to have backed the cab and struck the woman. She was taken to the hospital by the driver.

Dance Tonight

Bedford Road Firemen and Auxiliary will hold the weekly dance tonight at the fire hall, beginning at 8.

Telephone Employees Plan 'Happiness Pile' Week

Employees of the local office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company are making plans for the second annual "Happiness Pile" project.

The purpose of the project is to collect old toys and clothes and canned goods to be given to the Salvation Army Corps for distribution during the Christmas season.

The telephone company started the project last year, and over 1,000 articles were collected and turned over to the Salvation Army.

The drive last year began with just the employees bringing in donations, but before the collection period was over, articles were received from all over the county.

The second floor of the central office building on South Centre Street will be used to store all the articles that will be collected. Pile week.

Students See Telephone Demonstrations

Sixth grade pupils in certain Allegany County public schools have a better understanding of the telephone as a result of a series of demonstrations conducted this week by Miss Amanda Bowman of Baltimore, education director for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Miss Bowman began her visit to Allegany County by conferring Monday morning with the three elementary school supervisors, Miss Mildred E. Willison, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Margaret E. Doak, and the elementary school principals.

She then visited four schools before her three-day stay ended on Wednesday. She conducted demonstrations at John Humbird School in South Cumberland, Northeast School in Bowmans Addition, Beall Elementary School in Frostburg and Central Elementary School in Lonaconing.

The sixth graders were instructed in the proper use of telephone, telephone courtesy and the scientific background of the communications industry.

Telephone kits were left in each school for future classroom use. Arrangements for Miss Bowman's visit were completed by Robert G. Garner, local manager of the company.

Four To Attend Bank Sessions

Four local bankers are planning to attend a state-wide management-operations session which will be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore on November 19.

William B. Yates, formerly of Frostburg, president of the Maryland Bankers Association and executive vice president, Citizens Bank of Takoma Park, said the meeting will be divided into two sessions.

Planning to attend from Cumberland are Joseph M. Naughton, president, and Charles H. Hyde, comptroller of the Second National Bank; A. W. Tindal, president of the First National Bank; Thomas L. Keech, vice president and treasurer of the Liberty Trust Company.

He added that Republican delegations have supported reasonable salary adjustments for teachers and killed proposals to abandon Frostburg State Teachers College and withdraw state aid from Miners Hospital.

GOP Delegations, he added, have been alert to the county's road needs and will continue to exert every effort to see that the Wiley Ford Bridge is built at the earliest possible moment.

He said the special session of the Assembly to boost the limit for unemployment benefits from 26 to 39 weeks would have been unnecessary had the Legislature not killed in committee similar legislation introduced by members of the Allegany County Delegation.

He said the drive will begin next month. Employees will meet next week to make final preparations for the "Happiness Pile" week.

Local Voters Urged To Back GOP Candidates

Henderson Speaks At South End Rally

Former Chief Judge George Henderson last night urged South Cumberland Republicans to back the capable men who are seeking federal and state positions under the GOP banner.

Judge Henderson was the principal speaker at a rally held in the Good Fellowship Club and attended by some 150 enthusiastic citizens of the area.

He praised Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde for his work on the C & O Canal Parkway Bill and said he could testify, from watching Mr. Hyde in action at a C & O Canal hearing, that he is a capable and experienced legislator.

The importance of having a Republican attorney-general of the same party as the governor was stressed in urging the election of Robert A. Wallace.

Cites Toll Bridge

John A. Derr, Judge Henderson said, had a splendid financial record as mayor of Frederick. He said Mr. Derr's opponent for Comptroller had a toll bridge built to help his county and then came back to the Legislature in 1957 and had the toll lifted, placing the burden on all taxpayers of Maryland.

Warm praise was expressed for Senator J. Glenn Beall as Judge Henderson told how Mr. Beall secured the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project and assisted in the location of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant here. James P. Devereux, he said, is seeking the governor's position on his record and not on a popularity contest.

He lashed out at Mr. Devereux's opponent (J. Millard Tawes) for failing to take a stand on issues, and said Mr. Tawes' talk so far indicates lack of intelligence for "promises" to do things which will cost money without raising taxes.

State Senator Charles M. See, who is running unopposed, served as master of ceremonies at the rally.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis spoke for Sheriff Edward R. Muir, who is seeking re-election.

Urges GOP Team

Full support for the three Republican candidates for County Commissioner was urged by James Orr, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Mr. Orr said he is proud of the part he has played in operating the county without cutting road construction, public health activities, public assistance grants and other needed services without increasing the tax rate during the past few years, when the costs of government and living kept going up.

Mr. Orr pledged that he and his running mates, William A. Wilson, Midland, and Simeon W. Green, Frostburg, will carry out, in harmony, plans they have made for operating the county during the next four years.

He said he proposes to continue to do all possible to operate the county at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer, with a view of giving "better rather than poorer service."

Urges GOP Delegation

On the basis of their fine record, people of Allegany County should continue to send solid Republican Delegations to Annapolis, Del. Fred B. Driscoll told the South Cumberland residents.

He urged full support for the GOP Delegation candidates, Thomas N. Berry, Lester Speir Cook, Estel C. Kelley, Noel B. Reed, David J. Williams and himself. Mr. Driscoll said that during his eight years in Annapolis, Republican delegations have been able to work together for the good of the people of Allegany County.

There have been differences of opinion, he said, and they have been discussed fully and frankly in delegation meetings.

"We have been able," he said, "to disagree without bringing partisan politics into the picture" and have resolved differences which would have been impossible with a delegation "split along party lines."

Will Push Bridge

The GOP Delegation, he said, has worked with the County School Board for a construction program to provide educational facilities superior to those in many sections.

He added that Republican delegations have supported reasonable salary adjustments for teachers and killed proposals to abandon Frostburg State Teachers College and withdraw state aid from Miners Hospital.

GOP Delegations, he added, have been alert to the county's road needs and will continue to exert every effort to see that the Wiley Ford Bridge is built at the earliest possible moment.

He said the special session of the Assembly to boost the limit for unemployment benefits from 26 to 39 weeks would have been unnecessary had the Legislature not killed in committee similar legislation introduced by members of the Allegany County Delegation.
